WOMAN THROWS HERSELF INTO JET ENGINE!

By RALPH TURIN/Weekly World News

PARIS — Australian tourist Andrea Warinka, 29, committed suicide in the goriest way possible — by jumping into the engine of a 747 jet!

"It is hard to imagine anyone choosing a more ghastly way to die," said airport authority investigator Claude Dulenay. "Witnesses tell us it was the most horrifying thing they've ever seen."

Police say the Adelaide factory worker stole a motorized luggage cart from an airport compound, drove onto the tarmac and rammed into a German jetliner that was revving up for takeoff.

From there, cops say, she climbed onto the cart's hood and dived into the giant jet engine — where the whirling blades ground her to hamburger.

"One eye-witness Tanya Le Brocher said she disappeared instantly," Dulenay told reporters. "It was three or four minutes before the pilot shut down the engines — and by that time all that could be seen was a pool of blood and what looked like ground beef dripping from the rear of the engine."

Friends said Mrs. Warinka had gone to Paris in an attempt to reconcile with her estranged husband Michael, who'd moved to France six months earlier.

"Apparently, her attempt to patch things up had failed," Dulenay said.

Sedative makes gals think dentists are seducing them

LONDON — Lady patients who accuse their dentist of molesting them may actually have experienced a powerful erotic fantasy — brought on by a drug used to calm their nerves!

By JOE BERGER
Weekly World News

The racy escapades can seem so real that bewildered women may never be convinced they have imagined the whole thing, medical and legal experts say.

Dozens of dentists and doctors may have been wrongly convicted of sex crimes because female patients experienced fantasies after being given the drug benzodiazepine, says British attorney and medical law specialist Diana Brahams.

"We know of several dozen cases in which women have had imaginary erotic experiences while under the influence of benzodiazepine," she said.

"Nobody can say how many other cases there have been, and that presents some special problems for dentists who use the drug to help put patients at ease."

Miss Brahams says the drug's many side effects may reverse and reputations were ruined by sexual accusations.

"While allegations may be well-founded, as such behavior is not unheard of, they may equally well be the result of a fantasy induced by the drug," she said.

The lawyer advised dentists to have witnesses present any time they use the sedative.

STUDY REVEALS WHICH SIX LOTTERY NUMBERS COME UP THE MOST!

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — A six-year nationwide survey has determined the numbers that come up most frequently in lotteries across the U.S. — and an expert has conclusive proof that they'll keep coming up the most often in the future!

And right here are the lucky numbers: 5, 16, 25, 31, 42 and 44.

While some mathematicians claim there's no guarantee these numbers will come up as frequently in the future, new evidence proves you CAN expect these numbers to pop up in lotteries all over the U.S.

"There's a very complicated formula that indicates past results can be an indicator of future performance if the research is done correctly," said Steven Rigel, a noted math expert and former college professor. "The formula is difficult for even advanced mathematicians to understand and the tests must follow very rigid guidelines."

MATH EXPERT Steven Rigel.

For example, if you did a lottery numbers test with a small sample of perhaps six months or a year, there wouldn't be enough evidence to indicate which numbers are a solid choice to come up in the future."

"But statistics show that after four and a half years of studying at least 11 lotteries, you can establish a clear pattern," he said. "We added an extra 18 months and followed 34 different lotteries to confirm our findings — and the results kept coming back the same. Some numbers clearly come up more often."

But Rigel warned against assuming that the numbers will automatically come up every time.

"While you can be assured that the six most frequent numbers will continue to pop up all over the country, you can't be guaranteed that they will come up at any given time or in any given state lottery," he said. "Also, you can't be sure that they'll all come up in the same drawing to yield a full jackpot.

"But if I were advising a lottery player on what numbers to use, I wouldn't hesitate to say 5, 16, 25, 31, 42 and 44," he said.

"These numbers have made a lot of money for a lot of people in the past few years. And

NASA discovers giant cyclone in outer space

By MIKE FOSTER
Weekly World News

Scared-stiff astrophysicists say they've detected a giant, fast-moving cloud of antimatter on the edge of the galaxy — a cyclone-like formation that could destroy the sun, Earth and our entire solar system!

"When antimatter and ordinary matter collide, both are instantly annihilated," explained an expert. "If that cloud reaches our world, it would mean the end of all mankind."

The shocking discovery was made by an unmanned space-based observatory that was launched by NASA back in 1991. Instruments aboard the orbiting satellite detect and measure gamma rays, a type of radiation.

Antimatter — a form of matter in which the electrical charge of each particle is the reverse of the normal matter found in objects on Earth — cannot be detected directly but when it comes in contact with normal matter and both are destroyed, gamma rays are produced.

Since November scientists say the observatory has been picking up enormous amounts of gamma rays coming from a particular spot on the outskirts of our galaxy, the Milky Way.

Such a massive quantity of gamma radiation could only be produced by a cloud of antimatter as it explodes one star system after another, scientists have determined.

Estimates indicate that the mysterious cloud is as large as 100,000 light-years across — the distance light would travel in 100 centuries.

"Right now it's difficult to determine in what direction the antimatter 'cyclone' is moving — some physicists are convinced that it could be coming right at us," said the expert.

Government officials are urging the public not to worry — saying that it's highly unlikely the antimatter storm could come near Earth before the year 3000. "It would be premature for the average American to panic at this time," said a U.S. government spokesman.

Anxious to maintain public calm, officials are asking parents to use the term "doesn't matter" rather than "antimatter" when discussing the frightening formation in front of their children.

What guys DON'T want gals to know — about themselves

Men hide their aches and pains from women — as well as many of their innermost feelings, says a psychologist.

"Most men are uncomfortable with the idea of a woman knowing too much about what makes them tick," declared noted psychologist Dr. Marc Lipton.

Here are some of the things men don't want women to know about them, according to Dr. Lipton:

● "Although they rarely admit it, men secretly question their lovemaking ability," said Dr. Lipton. "They crave reassurance from their partners that they're sexy, exciting

Pet dogs can save children from lead poisoning, says new study!

A CHILD'S BEST FRIEND. Your pooch could give the first warning sign of lead poisoning in your home.

By JAN HAYES / Weekly World News

The family dog may become your child's best friend — by providing early warning signs that could save the youngster from lead poisoning, an expert reveals.

"Dogs often show signs of lead intoxication before children, and the signs in humans are more subtle than in dogs," declared veterinary toxicologist Dr. Stan Casteel.

The signs of lead poisoning in a dog include chronic vomiting over a four- to five-day period, complete loss of appetite and, in some cases, seizures.

Young children and dogs are both low to the ground, where lead paint chips may be found. Both are also apt to put foreign objects in their mouths. So lead poisoning in a dog is a good indication your child may be ingesting lead, too.

Lead poisoning in children can cause diminished mental performance and impaired learning ability.

Lead is no longer permitted in paint — but nearly 80 percent of America's housing still contains lead paint, according to a Centers for Disease Control and Prevention spokesman.

If you suspect your dog is suffering from lead poisoning, take the pet to a vet and have a blood sample drawn to determine lead concentration in the blood, Dr. Casteel advises. The test costs about $10.

If the results indicate lead poisoning, small children in the house should then be tested for lead. That test costs $50 to $100.

Treatment for a child with lead poisoning includes the drug succimer, which flushes the lead out of the body.

Marry a younger guy — you'll live longer!

Ladies, you can add years to your life by tying the knot with a younger man!

That's the finding of a new university study that revealed that 88 percent of women whose husbands were six to 14 years younger than they were lived longer than expected.

On the other hand, 67 percent of women wed to men six to 14 years older died sooner than anticipated.

Researchers believe younger husbands encourage their wives to be more active physically to eat nutritious foods and to maintain an active interest in life, Senior Highlights reports.

America's highways have become dumping grounds for thousands of dead bodies!

By BEATRICE DEXTER / Weekly World News

America's roadsides are littered with corpses, officials say, as more and more folks find they are just too short of cash to bury their dead relatives!

The faltering economy and the high price of cemetary plots has resulted in a mind-boggling increase in the number of abandoned bodies, with authorities from Alaska to Florida finding rotting remains in ravines, ditches and on the medians of public highways.

"I've never seen anything like this," said a stunned police official in Norfolk, Va., who asked not to be identified. "They're finding them by the thousands all around the country. It has to be the economy — people are just too poor to pay funeral expenses. They leave notes asking the state to take care of it.

"Police in North Carolina say they found 13 bodies in one week alone. And we hear the same thing from Texas, Georgia and a lot of other states. We're finding them carefully wrapped in blankets or sheets, sometimes with a few of their favorite possessions next to them.

"We've finding them in packing barrels, in footlockers — all kinds of makeshift coffins. They have not been treated like trash or anything.

"People obviously care. It's just that they don't have the money to take care of grandma's funeral."

'Cemeteries are too expensive!' say relatives

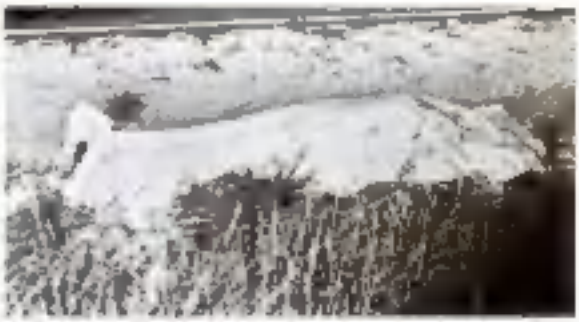
The roadside corpses have received little publicity to date.

But with the worrisome increase in dead bodies showing up nationwide, some officials are planning a campaign to stem the flood of abandoned corpses.

"They are a health hazard and they're very unsightly," the Norfolk police official said. "And the unfortunate folks who find them are often traumatized for life.

"We want to do whatever we can to encourage people to find other means of getting rid of their relatives' bodies.

"If they need financial assistance, they should ask a public agency for help."



SHROUDED CORPSE found on an interstate road in North Carolina, is just one of the thousands of bodies that litter highways across the country.

Why won't the baby I aborted leave me alone?

Dear Serena: Several years ago I got pregnant. My husband and I were not married back then, so rather than have the baby, I had an abortion. Since then I've had a recurring dream in which the baby comes to me and says: "Why did you kill me, Mother?" Why won't the baby leave me alone? — Tormented in Dubois

Dear Tormented: The spirit of the baby you aborted will continue to torment you until you come to terms with your own guilt. My crystal ball tells me that you will find the peace of mind you desire by devoting your life to underprivileged children. The sooner you look for work in that field, the better off you will be.

Three out of seven signs of the Apocalypse have come to pass!

PARIS — Spiritual and religious leaders worldwide agree: The end of the world is just months away. And to back up their claim, they cite seven sure signs of the Apocalypse — of which three have already come to pass!

By RANDY MYERS
Weekly World News

That's the disturbing news from the first-ever World's-End Summit, attended by 185 experts representing all the major world religions including Christianity, Buddhism, Islam and Hinduism.

"There has been widespread speculation lately — among all faiths and creeds — that the destruction of our planet is very near," said noted Memphis Bible authority Rev. Edgar Shanlo, one of five Americans at the summit.

BIBLE EXPERT Edgar Shanlo

"Nearly every religious group on Earth is claiming that, according to the ancient writings and prophets of their faith, God plans to end all life as we know it in the very near future.

"So on June 2, representatives of every major religion came together for a nine-day conference to compare notes. We wanted to find out if there are any signs or activity, common to ALL religions, that signify the end of the world.

"As might be predicted, there were many doctrinal disagreements among the religions, but there was also a surprising amount of agreement.

"Seven specific signs have been prophesied by every major religion. When all seven have taken place, they say, planet Earth will be destroyed."

The panel was shocked and dismayed to realize that, of the seven prophesies, three have already taken place. And if things continue as they're going, the other four are mere months away. All panel members believe that the world as we know it will end when all these things have occurred.

1 When cash is eliminated as a medium of exchange.

This prediction has been nearly fulfilled.

With the rise in computer technology, cash could be unnecessary within a year.

2 When hundreds of people in all parts of the globe can communicate with one another at once.

The Internet has already made this possible. Anyone on the World Wide Web can express himself to any number of others on the web. People in China, Russia, Iran, France and the United States can all converse at once. This prediction is particularly stressed in ancient Mohammedan and Buddhist writings.

3 When women become as violent as men.

This is getting close. In 1977, 20 years ago, women committed only 17 percent of murders. Last year, they accounted for 44 percent — and the rate has been rising yearly year since 1990.

4 When the heads of three powerful countries go down in scandal.

President Bill Clinton is being sued for sexual harassment, England's royal family has been badly scarred by rumor and Russia's Boris Yeltsin has seen his reputation suffer because of his drinking. The press is watching all politicians very closely. It's conceivable that scandal could soon force the retirement of three world leaders.

HEADS OF THREE POWERFUL COUNTRIES GO DOWN IN SCANDAL

ORLD IS NEAR!

When all seven predictions have come true — the Earth will be destroyed

5 When 100 people are killed by something man-made that falls from space.

With all the satellites and other space debris in the air, it's entirely possible that something man-made could fall back into our atmosphere the man-made "something" falls not just from the sky, but from "the heavens." It is clear that the event is not just a plane crash because ancient languages have different words for "heavens" and "sky."

One here of at least 30 major religions and indirectly in others, clearly refers to human cloning.

Readers of Weekly World News and other world media list created the first-ever human clone.

7 When one-third of the world's seas are poison.

Scientists agree that this has already occurred. Pollutants caught in many places. Ecologists say that at least 10 percent of the world's salt water bodies are contaminated to some extent.

YOUR NOSE KNOWS!

By TANIA LAUREN
Weekly World News

Your nose can actually signal health problems throughout the rest of your body, medical experts say.

"It's true!" declares Dr. Robert B. Mendelsohn, former associate professor of preventive medicine at the University of Illinois.

"The condition of a patient's nose can tell you how the heart, stomach and other internal organs are performing."

And Dr. Keith Black, an expert in the art of "visual diagnosis" who has practiced the technique on hundreds of patients, revealed the following observations:

"If the tip of your nose is swollen, this can indicate that your heart is also swollen or enlarged.

"If the tip of your nose is very hard, this might signal hardening of the arteries, high cholesterol and fatty deposits in the area of the heart."

An elongated dimple or indentation in the center of the nose can be a warning of "an irregular heartbeat," according to Dr. Black.

"Bumps on the nose may mean pancreas or kidney trouble," the expert added.

"Crooked noses can indicate that you have inherited the physical constitution of either your father or mother.

"A nose that slants to the right can signify that the mother's constitution is dominant. A left slant may indicate that the father's constitution is dominant.

"Large noses indicate strong constitutions — while smaller noses may indicate a weaker makeup.

"Red noses can be a sign of heart and circulatory troubles.

"A slight discoloration, with a brown, blue or black hue can be a signal you'll have problems with your spleen or pancreas.

"Blackheads on the nose reflect an overconsumption of dairy products and oily food."

Dr. Black, author of a book about visual diagnosis says your eyelashes reveal a wealth of information about your health, too.

"If you have large eyelashes, you have a strong constitution.

"People with freaky fat eyelashes generally have a strong constitution but may be prone to liver spleen, pancreas, kidney and heart problems. People with skinny or thin lashes may have stomach and intestinal problems.

"People with red eyelashes may have problems with the spleen and with the lymph and circulatory systems."

The shape, color and size of your nose tells if you have:

- Heart disease
- Circulatory problems
- Liver disease
- Kidney failure
- High cholesterol
- Skin problems and more!

BEWARE: Too much sex is bad for your health!

WARNING: Too much sex may be dangerous to your health.

That's the startling conclusion of researchers at the National Institute of Mental Health, who found that too much sex greatly weakened the immune system of male hamsters. Doctors said the finding may have important implications for research on AIDS and other sexually transmitted diseases.

Scientists are trying to determine whether sexual activity influences the life span of animals infected with an AIDS-like virus.

MAN HUGS PREGNANT WIFE — AND KILLS THEIR BABY!

By LOU FISHER, World News

BRUSSELS, Belgium — Paul Watson hugged his pregnant wife so hard that he killed their unborn child!

The 36-year-old man went into shock when he learned what he had done — especially because he and wife Catherine had been trying to have children since they married in 1986.

"Why couldn't it have been me? Why couldn't I have been the one to die?" Watson told newsmen.

"That baby meant more to us than anything in the world. Now he's gone and I don't know if I'll ever get over what I have done."

The tragic drama unfolded when Watson got home from a business trip and rushed to the arms of his loving wife.

He swept Mrs. Watson, four months pregnant, into a powerful bear hug and lifted her off her feet.

The woman cried out in sharp pain as her abdomen and told her husband to put her down. He instantly did as she said, but the damage was done.

Rain Forest Wonder Herb Now Available in the United States Without a Prescription!

THIS JUNGLE PILL WILL CHANGE YOUR LIFE!

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah — What is considered by many to be one of the most powerful herbs on the planet is now available in the United States without a prescription and costs just pennies a day. The rain forest herb Una de Gato (Cat's Claw) is not only relied on by millions of true and grateful believers, it is guaranteed to change your life in a matter of hours, days or in truly stubborn situations, weeks, cortisol experts report.

Incredibly, there's more. According to Dr. Donna Schwenkhowski, author of the important book, Herbs of the Amazon, Traditional and Common Uses, Una de Gato, which means "Cat's Claw" in Spanish, is a treasured and revered component of a folk tradition that has been tested and proven over a history of continuous use spanning hundreds of years.

"Rain forest herbs like Una de Gato clearly are among the purest and most powerful found in nature," declared Dr. Schwenkhowski. "They also are among the most thoroughly tested, having been used by the indigenous peoples of the Amazon for hundreds of years."

Dr. Schwenkhowski

Dr. Schwenkhowski isn't the only expert singing the praises of Una de Gato (Cat's Claw), which is derived from the bark of a thorny vine that grows abundantly in the Amazon rain forest.

The testimonials from ordinary people who now count themselves among a growing legion of "Cat's Claw believers" are full of praises so heartfelt and sincere that they often culminate in tearful expressions of pure joy.

E.F. of Pensacola, FL, flatly states: "Before I found Cat's Claw, I was dead — DEAD! This herb gave me more than a miracle – it gave me back my life."

D.S. of Elba, AL, is equally enthusiastic. He says: "The pain in my hip pretty crippled me for years. Just two weeks after I started Cat's Claw, the pain is gone. I jump up off the couch like a kid again!"

C.C. of Statesboro, GA, goes even further than that. She says: "I had problems for years and Cat's Claw stopped them dead in their tracks. I went to bed last night and kept saying 'Thank you Lord for Una de Gato!' I am going to go jumping rope and doing exercise. Four years ago, I was almost to the point I needed a walking cane or a walker."

Word is spreading. There's more. J.M. of Albuquerque, NM, says: "Thanks to Solaray Antioxidex and the Lord I found this wonderful rain forest herb. It has turned me back to life."

D.C. of Lake Worth, FL, knows the power of Cat's Claw well. He says: "I take Cat's Claw every day like a vitamin tablet and my doctor called the results of my recent physical, which included a grueling, 24-function blood test, spectacular!"

"I have energy to spare and feel stronger, sharper and more alert than I did at a load of 30. It sounds corny like a joke, but I'm as serious as a preacher when I say that with Cat's Claw in my medicine chest, I am 100 percent confident that I will never be sick again. Cat's Claw is God's herb. There's not a doctor alive and a medical technology available that could even approach the way this herb truly can make a miracle — and that's exactly what Cat's Claw is."

Breakthrough research in Europe shows doctors routinely recommend herbs and herbal therapies to patients. In virtually dramatic. After long and intensive study, an esteemed Austrian researcher identified several important phytosterols — active ingredients — found in the Cat's Claw herb. An extract is now being used as adjunctive therapy in the treatment of severe immune disorders.

It's no secret that a strong immune system enables the body to ward off or banish disorders and conditions of every description, even the most painful, debilitating and terrifying known to man.

Pure, powerful premium Una de Gato (Cat's Claw) is fast, available without a prescription in the United States. You are strongly advised, however, to purchase yours from a reliable, trusted source. Infinity Herbs has sold and shipped premium, money-back guaranteed Una de Gato (Cat's Claw) to well over 30,000 satisfied customers the world over since 1993. And at just $29 per bottle of 100 500mg capsules, Infinity's Una de Gato (Cat's Claw) is a tremendous bargain. Please don't settle for cheap imitations or waste your hard-earned money on overpriced products costing $25 to $30 or more. Infinity's Una de Gato (Cat's Claw) is not only priced right, it is pure, powerful and potent. Not only that, Infinity's Una de Gato (Cat's Claw) is guaranteed to change your life — or your money back.

Ticklish people have higher I.Q.s

NEW YORK CITY — If the slightest tickle leaves you limp with laughter, take heart — because the more ticklish you are, the more intelligent you are!

That's the fascinating finding of scientists at Harvard University and Sweden's University of Stockholm, who've concluded that the tickle me Elmos among us are, on average, a whopping 43 I.Q. points brainier than their not ticklish friends.

By JOE BERGER
Weekly World News

"At this point we are at a loss to explain why [illegible] is definitely a correlation between ticklishness and intelligence — and a very strong correlation at that," said Swedish ecclesiast Dr. Thure Dahlquist.

"At one end of the spectrum, we found that those subjects who convulsed with laughter — perhaps in the point of total helplessness — at the mere hint of a tickle had an average I.Q. of 143.

"At the other end of the spectrum, those who showed almost no perceptible reaction to tickling scored an average of only 85 on a standard I.Q. test.

"As ticklishness increased, intelligence increased accordingly — and as ticklishness decreased — so did intelligence."

Dr. Dahlquist, [illegible] working with colleagues at Harvard, made his mind-boggling finding after an exhaustive study of more than 2,200 subjects in the United States, Switzerland and Sweden.

"The study began as a gag [illegible] subjects at a scientists' conference here.

"We were so stunned at anybody when we developed data showing a direct link between ticklishness and intelligence. Once they discovered that to us, the surprised expression on their faces was priceless.

"Man like Socrates, Leonardo da Vinci and Albert Einstein were all so ticklish that sometimes just being touched was quite agony for them."

Mars becoming more like Earth, say scientists

Weather on Mars is going haywire, say baffled scientists who've been poring over the latest photos from the Hubble space telescope.

Back in the 1970s, NASA's unmanned Viking space probe found that the Red Planet had small polar ice caps and was a relatively warm 32 degrees.

But pictures beamed to Earth from the space-based Hubble telescope earlier this year show polar ice caps on Mars expanding to cover a huge portion of the planet — with temperatures estimated to be a mind-bending 148 degrees below zero!

While the Viking mission indicated that the atmosphere of Mars was clouded with a thick, soup-like pink dust, the latest photos show crystal-clear skies. What's more, according to NASA scientists, the series of striking Hubble photos reveal that Mars now enjoys colorful sunrises, sunsets — and even rainbows, just like on Earth!

"It's not the dusty Mars of the Viking days," astronomer Todd Clancy of the Space Science Institute in Boulder, Colo., said in an interview. "We're finding a Mars that's colder, cleaner ... more beautiful and Earth-like." A few maverick experts have suggested that, through [illegible] gradually being transformed into an environment much like Antarctica. It's even possible, they suggest, that alien visitors from another solar system are enhancing our neighboring planet, and deliberately altering the environment to make it similar to their home world.

But other scientists speculate that Mars simply has two distinct climates, based on how close it is to the sun during the Martian year much like our own seasons on Earth.

The mystery may be solved by the latest space probe of the Red Planet, the recently launched Mars Pathfinder.

Forget about the 'Good Old Days!'

Family life is better today than it's ever been!

Think believe the American family is falling apart at the seams, you're all wet. It's a lot more close-knit today than it ever was in the past — even a survey of more than 1,500 people with a goody-goody family like the Waltons!

That's the reassuring findings of

The survey concluded that the American family is alive and well after all.

"The strong ties between grown children and their parents, brothers and sisters are evident in the extraordinary amount of socializing they do," researchers said.

The survey debunks the idea of the "nostalgic past image" of families like the Waltons, where three generations lived happily together, labeling it "pure fiction."

A University of California psychologist said more American children know their grandparents than in the old days, and they visit them more regularly today than they did in the past.

This is partly because until the early 1900s, grandparents hardly existed — since the average life span was only 47 years.

With more grandparents alive today, 73 percent of adults say their parents influence their ideas on child-rearing more than any other source, including TV, doctors, experts or friends, the survey concluded.

Other findings revealed that women with one or both parents living visit them about 52 times a year while men average 47 visits a year.

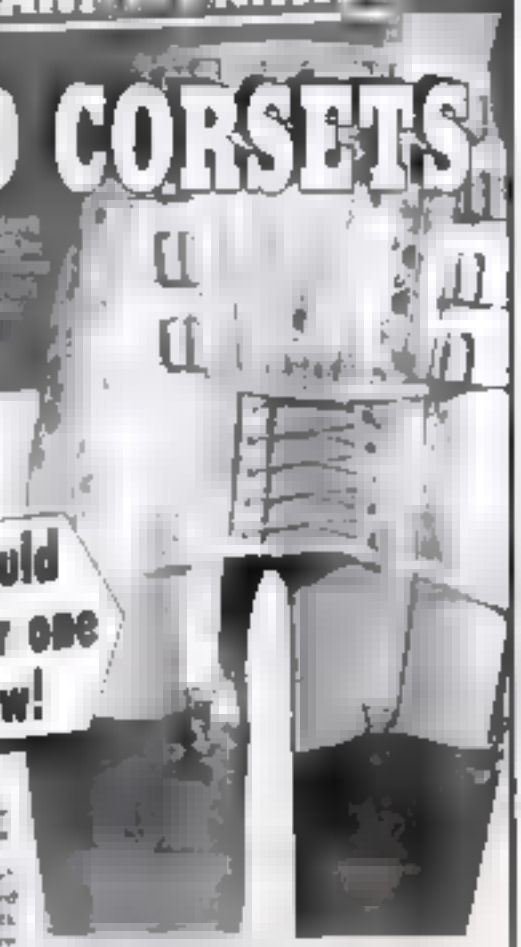
By ED ANGER

WANNA END ALL THE ADULTERY, TEEN PREGNANCY & MILITARY HANKY-PANKY?

OLD-FASHIONED CORSETS WOULD STOP SEX SCANDALS!



I'm madder than a preacher at a strip show about all those sex scandals that keep popping up in the news.

If it's not sportscasters and Army generals getting into some ladies' hot pants, it's another blonde accusing President Bill Clinton of lustful pranks.

The answer is simple, folks — bring back those old fashioned whip-and-stitch corsets that gals used to wear.

You didn't hear a peep about sex scandals in those days, by George.

Me and my old buddy Ted Pringle came up with that great idea over a couple of ice cold brewskis the other day.

Now old Ted has been chasing skirts since Franklin D. Roosevelt was President, and even though he's about two feet short of a Happy Meal, he's got one hell of a memory about what used to go on in the backseats of '32 Fords if you get my drift.

Back then, Ted says, getting down to the basics of romance took hours and hours — and even then, you weren't gonna get anywhere unless you knew what you were doing when it came to extracting a gal from her duds.

Teenage girls didn't have to say NO if they were wearing one of those corset contraptions. It took a girl dressed deeper in engineering jeans to figure out which buckle did what and by the time you did, you were already late getting the little vixen home.

I learned the hard way about flipping the wrong hook on those corsets, and there was many a night I'd go home with sore red welts from head to toe caused by some Dixie coop or Florida strap.

Every woman should be forced to wear one of these — by law!

And did I ever get to first base? Not a chance. When those gals started up one of those buff-bustin' chastity belts every Hell Hound couldn't hold Joe Frazier.

Let's face it. I'm a bit of a prude when it comes to talking about sex, but this current business is something I'm dead serious about.

I'll bet the teenage pregnancy and adultery rates would drop like rocks if corsets made a comeback.

Even old Frank Gifford doesn't even see well enough to unhook one of these babies. It's botchs.

We even caught beach sex cleaners in high school showing today's girls how to wear the old corsets — and forget about that birth control pill and contraceptive crap.

How the hell are you gonna commit adultery or get pregnant if you can't even get your clothes off?

And Ted points out another thing. Those old corsets are ugly. So ugly, in fact, that most guys hate to even look at 'em and will avoid gals who wear 'em like a plague.

Our plan is simple. Make every girl wear one of the old-fashioned corsets until the day she marries.

Sure, it's no cakewalk. But we all know that most women are airhead sexpots out to tempt men into the dark.

So unless we can force them to squeeze into those late, great steel-and-elastic corsets of yesteryear, this country is going to continue to go to hell in a handbasket, my friends.

Ed Anger

LYING IS GOOD FOR YOU FOR YOU, SAYS EXPERT

Tiptoeing your way through touchy social encounters with a few well-chosen white lies is not a sin, according to one expert — in fact, it can be good for you.

That's because white lies help people deal with situations which otherwise might be upsetting, hurtful or downright dangerous.

"White lies allow people to deal with one another with a minimum of friction," psychologist Dr. Terry Baver told Weekly World News. "They protect the liar from the destructive aspects of telling the truth and protect the person who's lied to from being hurt."

Dr. Baver cautions that people should be aware of when they're lying and why, since some lies can be harmful. But if you're lying to accomplish a good end, there's no problem, she says.

"For example, if a teenager is all dressed up for his first date and doesn't look too hot but can't do anything about it, don't give him your honest opinion when he asks how he looks," Dr. Baver explained.

"Say, 'You look great,' so he'll have self-confidence.

"If you express what you feel, it would be destructive," she said.

"Lying is bad for you if you lie because you are afraid to confront people or because you don't wish to deal with problems," Dr. Baver said. "But honesty, too, can be bad.

"Honesty often is just an excuse for being sadistic or hostile," she said. "You could be using the truth to hurt someone who has made you angry.

"A real relationship needs honesty, of course, but to say harsh things without working them through doesn't benefit anyone. There are just some things that are better left unsaid.

"And we don't work things through with people we know casually."

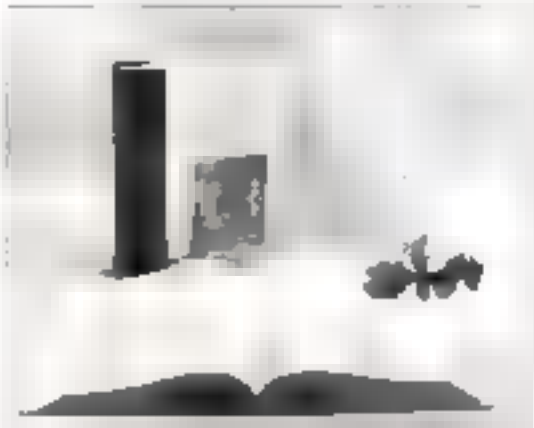
New Poetry Contest $48,000.00 in Prizes

The National Library of Poetry to award 250 total prizes to amateur poets in coming months



The National Library of Poetry publishes the work of amateur poets in colorful hardbound anthologies like The Coming of Dawn, pictured above. Each volume features poetry by a diverse cast of poets from all over the world.

Owings Mills, Maryland - The [redacted] of Poetry has just announced that $48,000.00 in prizes will be awarded over the next 12 months in the brand new North American Open Anthology Contest. The deadline for every entry in the contest is August 15, 1997. Another contest begins August 16, 1997. The contest is open to everyone and entry is free.

"We're especially looking for poems from new or unpublished poets," indicated Howard Ely, spokesperson for The National Library of Poetry. "We have a ten year history of awarding large prizes to talented poets who [redacted] never before won any type of writing competition."

How To Enter

Anyone may enter the competition simply by sending in ONLY ONE original poem, any subject, any style, to:

The National Library of Poetry
Suite 6337
1 Poetry Plaza
Owings Mills, MD 21117-4362

Or enter online at www.poetry.com

The poem should be no more than 20 lines, and the poet's name and address must appear on the top of the page. Entries must be postmarked by August 15, 1997. "All poets who enter will receive a response concerning their entry, usually within seven weeks," indicated Mr. Ely.

Possible Publication

Many submitted poems will also be [redacted] forthcoming hardbound anthologies. Previous anthologies [redacted] by the organization have [redacted] Of Distant Lands, Days of Future's Past, Of Memories and Reveries, Moments More to Go, among others.

"Our anthologies routinely sell out because they are truly enjoyable reading, and they are also a sought-after sourcebook for poetic talent," added Mr. Ely.

World's Largest Poetry Organization

Having awarded over $150,000.00 in prizes to poets worldwide in recent years, The National Library of Poetry, founded in 1992 to promote the artistic accomplishments of contemporary poets, is the largest organization of its kind in the world. Anthologies published by the organization have featured poems by more than 100,000 poets.

"We're always looking for new poetic talent," said Mr. Ely. "I hope you urge your readers to enter the contest. There is absolutely no obligation whatsoever, and

I'm so tired of being a virgin I could scream!

Rita in Denver

Dear Dotti: You recently published a letter from "Gene in Bradley," who said he would explode if he didn't have sex soon. Well, please tell him that I'd like nothing better than to give him all the lovin' he can stand — and then some. Before you start attacking my character, let me point out that I'm not a slut or a pig. I'm a shapely, long-legged, 26-year-old virgin who's so tired of saving myself for marriage that I could scream! So please, Dotti, forward my address and phone number to the man who wrote you that letter. I'm not rich but I've got money — and I'll travel to him! — Rita in Denver

Dear Rita: Your letter was postmarked May 28 and should have landed on my desk long before June 1 deadline. Unfortunately, the post office didn't get it to me until June 12 — and I hardly see any reason to forward your address so long after the deadline.

Yankees are idiots — Southerners are smart!

Dear Dotti: You always say people from the South marry their relatives and have babies out of wedlock like it was some kind of regional pastime. In addition to being generally ridiculous, this proves that you know absolutely nothing about the South. As a lifelong resident of Alabama, I can tell you that very few families do the things you accuse us of doing. In fact, Southerners have extremely high morals and standards unlike stupid Yankees like you! — Jimbo in Selma

Jimbo in Selma

Dear Jimbo: You can jibber and jabber until you're blue in the face. But if you don't have a cousin or three in the woodpile, I'll eat dirt!

Skinflint boyfriend won't buy me a new Chrysler!

Dear Dotti: I've been living with a man for almost 14 years. I love him, but he's not perfect. For one thing, he's a skinflint. He won't buy me a new car. He says I'm perfectly happy with the one I have. Well, I'm not. I want a new Chrysler. I've told him that I'll pay for it myself, but he still refuses. Should I leave him? — Mailed in Windsor

Dear Mailed: I suppose you've lived with a man for 14 years without getting married because you have low self-esteem and secretly want people to treat you like dirt. That being the case, you don't need a car. And I strongly advise you to be true to yourself — and stop pretending you like it!

Trucker hubby comes home with lipstick on his pants!

Dear Dotti: My husband landed a job as a long-haul trucker a few months ago and now it seems like he doesn't want anything to do with me, sexually, when he gets home from his trips. I'm very hurt and confused. Is it me? Is it him? Or is it the job? — Hurt in Knoxville

Dear Hurt: Since you have nothing to lose but your husband, your home, your job and your self-respect, go for it. To tell you the truth, I'm surprised that you aren't already walking the streets looking for MORE action!

Stupid government won't give me my husband!

Dear Dotti: I'm 11 and have never had a boyfriend who liked me for being me. The last guy I went out with used me. Now I'm afraid to go out with this nice 15-year-old because I'm afraid he'll use me, too. — Worried in Pierre

Dear Worried: Every woman in the world has been used. You have to take chances. (I bet boy is an idiot, you shouldn't have anything to do with him.) Now get out there and start living!

Dear Dotti: My husband says if you think I sent you the "dog out" in last week's column, you're dyslexic.

Dear Lord, Such an insult. I'm told both, on myself, very much — but not with every dream that I have!

Dear Cleveland and Grosse Ile Guy in Kingston: I don't care what the letter said. I don't want boats shorts — and even if I did, I wouldn't send a pair to you!

Dear wandering in Los Angeles: I often wear a bra through blouse and see through blouse and you shouldn't when I send my sweater. Why do you ask?

Dear Dotti: I'm so tired of being a virgin I could scream! Please tell him that I'd like nothing better than to give him all the lovin' he can stand — and then some. Before you start attacking my character, let me point out that I'm not a slut or a pig. I'm a shapely, long-legged, 26-year-old virgin who's so tired of saving myself for marriage that I could scream! So please, Dotti, forward my address and phone number to the man who wrote you that letter. I'm not rich but I've got money — and I'll travel to him! — Rita in Denver

Dear Rita: Your letter was postmarked May 28 and should have landed on my desk long before June 1 deadline. Unfortunately, the post office didn't get it to me until June 12 — and I hardly see any reason to forward your address so long after the deadline.

Yankees are idiots — Southerners are smart!

Dear Dotti: You always say people from the South marry their relatives and have babies out of wedlock like it was some kind of regional pastime. In addition to being generally ridiculous, this proves that you know absolutely nothing about the South. As a lifelong resident of Alabama, I can tell you that very few families do the things you accuse us of doing. In fact, Southerners have extremely high morals and standards unlike stupid Yankees like you! — Jimbo in Selma

Jimbo in Selma

Dear Jimbo: You can jibber and jabber until you're blue in the face. But if you don't have a cousin or three in the woodpile, I'll eat dirt!

Skinflint boyfriend won't buy me a new Chrysler!

Dear Dotti: I've been living with a man for almost 14 years. I love him, but he's not perfect. For one thing, he's a skinflint. He won't buy me a new car. He says I'm perfectly happy with the one I have. Well, I'm not. I want a new Chrysler. I've told him that I'll pay for it myself, but he still refuses. Should I leave him? — Mailed in Windsor

Dear Mailed: I suppose you've lived with a man for 14 years without getting married because you have low self-esteem and secretly want people to treat you like dirt. That being the case, you don't need a car. And I strongly advise you to be true to yourself — and stop pretending you like it!

Trucker hubby comes home with lipstick on his pants!

Dear Dotti: My husband landed a job as a long-haul trucker a few months ago and now it seems like he doesn't want anything to do with me, sexually, when he gets home from his trips. I'm very hurt and confused. Is it me? Is it him? Or is it the job? — Hurt in Knoxville

Dear Hurt: Since you have nothing to lose but your husband, your home, your job and your self-respect, go for it. To tell you the truth, I'm surprised that you aren't already walking the streets looking for MORE action!

ing lipstick on all his shirts and pants. Should I confront him — or just find a man on the side myself? — Betty to Willow Spring

Dear Betty: Since your hubby is a truck driver, there's a very real possibility that this "lipstick" you keep finding on his shirts and pants is axle grease. As for showing you, what do you expect? Judging from your photo, you're a big fat pig.

I want Bobby's body — but hubby's in the way!

Dear Dotti: I really have the hots for a guy I work with. During a dinner party at my house, we played footsies under the table half the night and it was everything I could do to keep from dragging him into my bedroom and touching his parts all by hand. I would have if my husband hadn't been home. I want Bobby's bod BAD! Should I give in to my impulse — or not? — Hot in Zanesville

Dear Hot: Since you have nothing to lose but your husband, your home, your job and your self-respect, go for it. To tell you the truth, I'm surprised that you aren't already walking the streets looking for MORE action!

OOPS! Wife bakes $7,900 hidden in oven

LYONS, France — Housewife Marie Campion, 38, thought she was being pretty crafty when she hid her $7,900 nest egg of American dollars in the oven — till the urge to bake cookies and burned the money to a crisp!

The mother of three was sticking up on Yankee currency in trade in the black market.

She put the cash in her oven, thinking it would be safe there until the next morning, when she intended to exchange it for francs.

"Then the kids started begging me to make cookies, so I turned on the oven — and the next thing I knew, every last bit of the money had gone up in smoke," she recalled.

The loot was a total loss.

Researchers say they've found a poisonous South American tree frog whose spit contains a painkiller 200 times stronger than morphine — but without the side effects.

And Dr John Malpass says he's now able to re-create the substance — which may also help Alzheimer's sufferers — in his university laboratory.

SHOW EXCESS pounds the magic way with the 48-hour diet and you'll have a toned tummy, luscious legs and a killer cutaway like this lovely young lass.

By SUSAN MADISON
Weekly World News

If you're an on-again, off-again dieter, the 48-Hour Diet is for you — because it uses your weak willpower as an advantage and helps you melt away flab in hours.

Like most people, you probably gained at least six pounds over the winter and want to take off that extra flab for your days in the summer sun. Now, with the 48-Hour Diet, you'll be able to take it all off, dropping excess pounds like magic!

On the 48 Hour miracle regime, you'll start out with the quick Low-Cal Meal Plan at the top of Page 27. Then, after 48 hours you can switch to the Take-a-Break Meal Plan — as long as you return to a low cal menu two days later.

By alternating between the Low-Cal Meal Plan and the Take-a-Break Meal Plan you can drop up to three pounds in the first 48 hours — and keep on losing until you reach your desired weight.

You won't feel deprived and staying on your diet is no problem at all, because you know you're going to be feasting again in no time.

When you reach your desired weight, you can resume eating normally. If you put on an unwanted pound or two, go back to the miracle diet again and fat will melt away in no time.

The incredible 48 Hour Diet is based on low-calorie regimens promoted by the American Diabetes Association and other groups.

It's low in fat and nutritionally well balanced, yet provides only about 1,000 calories a day during the diet period.

During the two-day off period, dieters can splurge on well-balanced meals that provide many more calories a day — along with a range of foods not permitted on the low-calorie menu.

And a special list of bonus foods that includes luxuries like alcoholic beverages and ice cream makes you feel like you're feasting. After you've selected from among these favorite foods, you'll have stopped any cravings in the bud.

To begin your diet, start the Low-Cal Meal Plan on a Monday, for example.

Continue with the Low-Cal Plan on Tuesday, switch to the Take-a-Break Plan Wednesday and Thursday, go back to the Low-Cal Plan on Friday, and so forth. Follow these few rules as well.

- Always check with your doctor before going on a diet.
- Take a vitamin pill while you're dieting.
- Drink plenty of water.
- Stick to the diet plan.
- If you become ill with a cold or the flu, stop the diet until you feel better again and then continue.

Science buffs blast toy rocket into space

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. — A group of Alabama science buffs have launched the first model rocket ever to reach outer space!

The 7-foot craft soared to an amazing 120,000 feet, the highest altitude ever achieved by an amateur rocket. That point, nearly 45 miles up, is "the edge of space," according to experts.

CLINTON TO PROBE BARE HUMAN FOOTPRINTS ON THE MOON!

Somebody was walking on the moon before America's astronauts arrived there — and that somebody was doing it without a space suit!

By JANICE McKARTNY Weekly World News

UFO researchers have called on President Bill Clinton to open the files on one of the most chilling space cover-ups IN all time — the discovery of bare human footprints when Apollo 11 astronauts landed on the moon in 1969!

That's the word from astrophysicist Kang Man-pang, who stunned the world when he obtained secret NASA photographs of the footprints in 1969 and is now heading up a group of more than 400 scientists and researchers who are demanding that President Clinton make the NASA files public and let the truth be known once and for all.

"The United States government has chosen to keep this matter secret for 31 long years," Dr Kang told reporters in Washington.

"Somebody was walking on the moon before America's astronauts arrived there and that somebody was doing it without a space suit," he added.

BARE FOOTPRINTS exposed by Kang Man-pang, below, may be a result of an attack whenever President Clinton fails to bring While White House insiders privately confirmed that the President has requested copies of the NASA files and is currently reviewing them.

As the Weekly World News previously reported, Dr. Kang's 1969 allegations stunned U.S. space officials several of whom turned and ran when they were confronted by reporters outside NASA offices in Washington, D.C.

Other sources also aligned by comment, even after they were told that the expert said official NASA [illegible] graphs of 13 bare footprints that were found on the moon when U.S. astronauts landed there during the Apollo mission in the summer of 1969.

"The footprints were photographed by remote camera aboard the lunar lander and came to me from an unimpeachable NASA source," said Dr Kang. "They were accompanied by NASA documents that concluded, 'the footprints are definitely human and very fresh.'"

The NASA documents were dated Aug 1 1969, less than two weeks after the nine-day Apollo mission ended on July 31. Blocks of text had been obscured by NASA censors. But the statements of fact and analysis that remained made it clear that the agency suspected an extraterrestrial connection.

"Common sense would tell you that a barefoot human couldn't have gotten to the moon on his own — someone or something had to take him there," explained Dr Kang.

It would also have been impossible for America's astronauts to have made the prints

Dr Kang claims that spare aliens took a barefoot human to the moon and for reasons unknown, made him walk on the lunar surface.

While awaiting President Clinton's decision, Dr. Kang is appealing to "scientists and individuals everywhere to keep the pressure on."

How to rate your marriage!

Take this revealing test and find out!

THIS couple share a loving moment in their new life as man and wife begins

How's your marriage doing? If you really want to find out, take this quiz and see how yours rates.

Designed by psychiatrist Dr Frank Caprio, this simple test reveals how well you and your mate communicate and understand each other.

"Communication with kind words is the best path to happiness in marriage," Dr Caprio said. "It is very important to sit down with your spouse and take stock of your marriage. If more people took this approach and talked over their problems there would be fewer divorces."

When you take the quiz be aware of exactly as possible

WATCHDOG FALLS IN LOVE WITH BURGLAR!

MELBOURNE, Australia — Baffled cops don't know what to do with a watchdog who fell in love with a burglar.

The bizarre doggy day story began when canine constable Jeff Sutherly broke into a warehouse to steal electronic equipment — and found himself face-to-face with a large Rottweiler named Vixen, who'd been raised to be a guard dog. The burglar tried to keep the animal at bay by giving it treats and talking to it affectionately — and incredibly, this worked like a charm! The pooch not only let Sutherly escape with $30,000 in goods, it actually returned to his kennel. When a tip led cops to arrest Sutherly on burglary charges, they were stunned to find him in jail with his faithful pet and mascot at his feet!

If you score five or fewer points you can strengthen your marriage by working with your husband to iron out your incompatibilities.

Landmark domestic violence

Girl, 8, sues her 9-year-old brother — for beating her up!

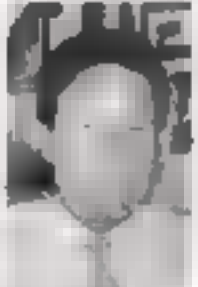
Mitch Robin Majeski hugs daughter Alicia apart from son Adam, believing that they should resolve their disputes in court.

NEW YORK CITY — In what legal experts are calling a landmark court case, an 8-year-old girl is filing a domestic violence suit against her 9-year-old brother — for beating her up!

Spunky Alicia Majeski charges that her big brother Adam has made life in their Manhattan apartment intolerable.

"He's always picking on me, shoving me and pulling my hair," she said.

"This has just got to stop."



Instead of laughing off the whole thing, the kids' parents — who are both attorneys themselves — are allowing the case to proceed.

ATTORNEY Mitch Majeski is defending his son in court against his daughter's lawsuit.

"They will find out early on that the way mature people settle disputes is in the courts, not with their fists."

Little Alicia detailed her charges against Adam in an 11-page legal document she will file in state court as soon as a lawyer in her mom's firm has finished translating the third grader's scrawl into legalese.

Alicia is demanding $571 three month period beginning in March, her bullying brother:

- Shoved her so hard she fell down in the living room.
- Kicked her in the back while "playing Power Rangers."
- Stole the top of her bikini during a Florida vacation, leaving her stranded in the ocean.
- Repeatedly called her names such as "Richard" and "Loser."
- Removed the heads of her Barbies after the dolls were "kidnapped and abused" by his G.I. Joe.

"He is mean and gross," declared the outraged young girl.

But through his lawyer, he did tell Weekly World News his sister's suit presents a distorted picture of their relationship. "Adam is stunned and very hurt," said Neil Steinitz.

"He is certain when the whole story is told, he will prevail in court."

It's that time again, when increased summertime sweat reacts with jewelry and causes millions of Americans to break out in itchy, unsightly, splotchy rashes. But it's a problem you can easily prevent and treat, say two top dermatologists.

By JOE KANE
Weekly World News

WARNING!

Cheap jewelry can give you the itchies!

The rashes are caused by an allergic reaction to the nickel used in some jewelry, particularly inexpensive costume jewelry, explained Dr. Richard Dobson.

Many people don't notice the connection between the rash and their jewelry because the symptoms don't appear until 24 to 48 hours after exposure.

But you can avoid the unpleasant rashes by following these suggestions from Dr. Dobson and Dr. Mervyn Elgart, another noted dermatologist.

Above all, avoid inexpensive costume jewelry.

If you do wear it, coat the back — or any place where it comes in contact with your skin — with a waterproof coating such as nail polish or lacquer spray.

To help reduce the amount of perspiration sprinkle baby powder on your skin on areas exposed to the jewelry.

To treat mild cases of rash, use a 5 percent hydrocortisone cream, which is available over the counter at drugstores.

But if the rash is severe and doesn't clear up in two weeks, you should see a physician. He can prescribe topical steroids that will get rid of it fast.

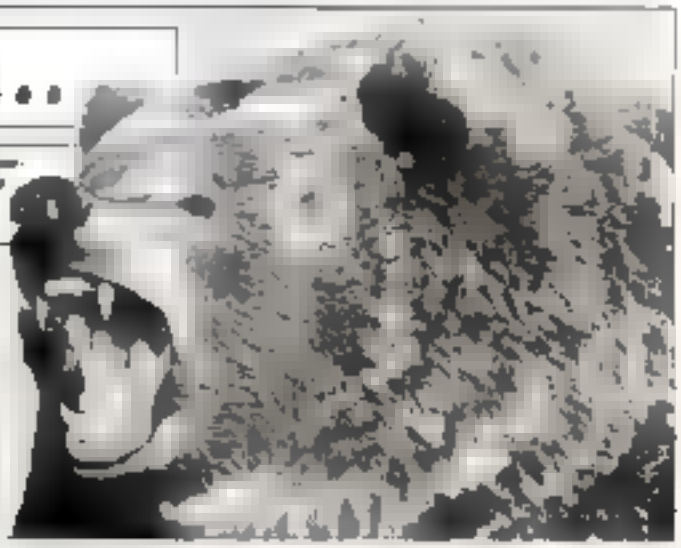
People can be possessed by the spirits of animals!

A BEAR leapt suddenly in a graveyard, employer's dreams



A COMPUTER operator was possessed by the spirit of a lizard that clawed at her body.

By JUNE SAWYER

The spirit of a bear possessed a man . . . a teenage girl was taken over by 12 demons . . . a computer operator was possessed by the spirit of a lizard that clawed at her body.

These are a few of the startling cases of humans possessed by animals and demons uncovered by psychotherapist Adam Crabtree, a former Catholic priest.

"Possession by a dead individual is a well known phenomenon, but I've come across fascinating cases that are rarer — cases of people being possessed by animal spirits," said Crabtree.

Many of his patients came to him after finding themselves acting in strange ways, said Crabtree. "They'd find themselves doing things they normally didn't do, adopting characteristics that were just there with, certainly a 'presence' inside themselves."

A TEENAGE girl was possessed by 12 demonic personalities

The psychotherapist told of one patient, a government bureaucrat who confessed he was seized by sudden urges to see blood and hear bones crunching in his teeth.

"Whenever he saw his wife, he wanted to rip her flesh with his teeth and crush her skull," said Crabtree.

"In therapy, he began referring to the bear and to a primitive being that had been appearing in his dreams.

"The man began howling and roaring, tearing at the floor like a demented animal — then said the bear had emerged and left him," recalled Crabtree, author of the book Multiple Man: Explorations in Possession and Multiple Personality.

Crabtree discovered that the "bear" was the spirit of an animal brutally killed centuries ago by a group of primitive hunters. The spirit was seeking its revenge — and the patient was a descendant of one of the hunters.

Another case Crabtree came across in his research involved a teenage girl whose mental and physical health deteriorated horribly over the course of five years.

"A team of exorcists began steps to drive out the demons they felt was possessing her. To their shock, 12 subhuman beings emerged each with a different personality.

"At various times during the exorcism, blisters as large as quarters appeared and disappeared on her body, holy water turned to steam before it could be sprinkled on her, and papers containing an exorcism formula burst into flames and turned to ash.

"But after the exorcism ended, she once again became a normal adolescent girl."

Crabtree also investigated the case of a computer operator, who "felt she was being clawed by a creature that seemed, from sensations on her skin, to be a lizard.

"It was leaving scratches on her back, neck, abdomen and thighs. After a time the creature moved from external attacks to internal ones, causing cramps and nausea.

"Eventually, an exorcism was performed — and after the session, the woman was free of her symptoms for the first time in years."

Stupid thief gets stuck in doorway — and dies!

LITTLE HORTON, England — Bungling burglar Michael McNamara died tragically after getting stuck in a doorway for two days.

Police found the 37-year-old petty criminal inside an apartment he had robbed, pinned at the waist to a 4-inch gap between a door and the doorjamb. A piece of wood is thought to have fallen behind the door, wedging it in place.

Cops have concluded that, as the luckless thief was crossing the threshold, part of a picture frame fell behind the door, wedging it in place.

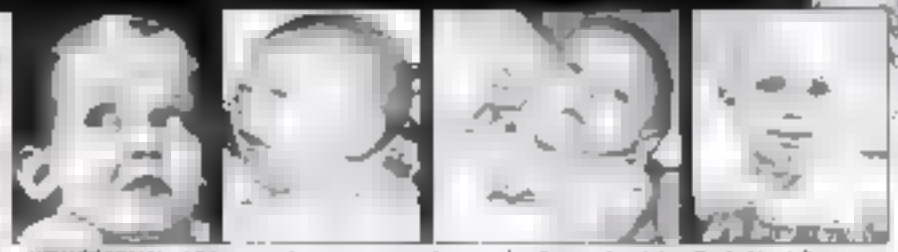
HOW TO TELL IF YOUR BABY IS GAY!

NEW YORK CITY — Is your bruiser of a baby boy destined to become a flaming, limp-wristed sissy?

Will that gurgling little girl of pewter and pink lace grow up to be a dyke-legged, Harley-revving lesbian?

Controversial Swiss psychiatrist and pediatrician Dr. LeMont Procter insists that homosexuals are born, not made — and he says some babies begin exhibiting gay-blade traits when they're barely out of the basinet. "Parents can determine at a very early age whether their baby is likely to grow up gay if they simply know what to watch for," Dr. Procter told delegates to a scientific conference here. "With that knowledge — and with the help of a qualified professional — they can take whatever steps they feel are necessary to alleviate a horrible life for their child."



HOMOSEXUAL children are born — not made, says leading pediatrician Dr. LeMont Procter.

LITTLE lesbians tend to hug other little girls rather than boys.

By JOE BERGER
Weekly World News

The famed child-care expert, author, whose theories have frequently drawn fire from colleagues, says your baby boy may be gay if he:

1 Trembles in fear at the sight of cars, spiders, cockroaches and other creepy-crawly critters.

2 Displays an unnatural fondness for pink, lavender, rose and other feminine colors.

3 Giggles, grins and flutters his eyelashes at other boys he likes — but gives girl babies the cold shoulder.

4 Screams and throws a temper fit at the sound of country music — but goes ecstatically wild when serenaded with chamber music, show tunes or anything by Liberace.

5 Turns up his nose at bugs, snails, crickets, trucks and other boy toys and grabs the colorful doll — especially if the doll is all decked out in a frilly dress.

6 Shrieks in terror at any sharp, sudden sound, such as a car backfiring or a gunshot on TV.

Just Dr. Procter says your baby girl may be gay if she:

1 Has severe anxiety reactions to the roar of trucks, the rumble of a train — or especially the revving of a motorcycle engine.

2 Has voice lessons called them chirps, sounding more like a bullfrog than the baby girl in the next stroller.

3 Has shown an abnormal fondness for footballs, dump trucks and toy guns — but rips the heads off her dolls and throws them up her closet and sewing machine when they're around — but attaches little boys with both fists.

4 Has become enraged when dressed in long pants, but cries bloody murder when forced to wear anything frilly and feminine.

5 Has become enraged when dressed in long pants, but cries bloody murder when forced to wear anything frilly and feminine.

6 Has shown an unexplained fondness for Westerns, basketball and fishing shows and hollers on television — but turns away in disgust when cooking, quilting and shopping programs come on.

Here are a few signs to look for in a gay baby:

- He's terrified of bugs!
- She's fond of footballs!
- He throws a fit at the country music!
- Her voice sounds like a bullfrog!
- He cries while listening to Liberace!

WASHINGTON — A space alien captured at a UFO landing site in New Mexico has given the CIA some terrifying news: God will destroy Earth on Jan. 11, 2000!

The alien says the Almighty's all-out destruction of the universe has already begun and is proceeding in a systematic way. At least 4,000 planets have been destroyed so far, and Earth will be next!

That's the word from former government agent Mark Padgett who still has a host of friends within the Central Intelligence Agency. Padgett says the E.T. is a refugee from a destroyed planet about 200 light years from Earth.

The most bizarre operation in medical history!

Doctors wrapped my brain in my stomach — to cure my cancer!

By PAT WELLS / Weekly World News

LONDON, England — Glenn Hucklield had just weeks to live when doctors pulled off the strangest operation in medical history — and wrapped his brain in his stomach to cure his cancer!

The 25-year-old college student was suffering from a deadly brain tumor that was slowly eating away his life. But by wrapping the malignant tumor in sensitive tissue from the stomach, surgeons were able to bypass a blood vessel blockage that had prevented anti-cancer drugs from getting through.

Enough tissue was left for doctors to remake a functional stomach for the man.

"When they explained what they were going to do to me, I was flabbergasted," recalled Glenn.

"They were using me as a guinea pig — but really, it was my only chance.

"And believe it or not, the operation worked. One week I was paralyzed and thought I was going to die — and the next week, I was on my way to a healthy, happy life.

"Now, that's what I call a miracle."

Courageous Glenn was studying to become a teacher, had a girlfriend, was an avid sportsman and had everything to live for when tragedy struck last year.

"When they told me I had cancer, I was shocked, of course," he said. "I was admitted to a hospital and they began radiation treatments."

And at first, the treatments seemed to help. But within months, Glenn suffered a relapse and his neurologist, Dr. Henry Marsh, decided to perform the most bizarre operation ever. Specialists used the stomach membrane to deliver the cancer-killing drugs to Glenn's tumor. Within days, Glenn could move his arms and legs. And now, he's able to walk.

"I've been given a new lease on life," he said.

An unwelcome little problem is about to be created. You should be totally free of it on Tuesday.

Up Wednesday be prepared to tackle a new challenge. Rely on common sense and don't be afraid to ask for help. Friday could bring a card or letter from an old friend or lover who wants to come back into your life. Think twice!

Lucky numbers are 1 and 12.

CANCER
June 21 – July 22

People close to you are counting on you this week and could come through for them.

Be prepared to give your friends the benefit of your hard earned experience when they approach you for help.

Your Cancerian sensitivity may provide the solution to a problem that could later affect you. Keep the confidence of a friend.

LEO
July 23 – Aug. 22

Feelings of fatigue may interfere with the zest you have been feeling right and getting enough rest.

Being the main fireball you are a weekend of social activity awaits you. But don't forget to do your chores. Important business matters are looking up. Use care to put a lasting in them before you make irrevocable decisions.

VIRGO
Aug. 23 – Sept. 22

Aggressiveness runs high in your star and that can be a real drawback this week.

Don't hide while others claim the spotlight. Play your cards right and you may be a leader.

A new romantic relationship could end in disaster. Singles should keep cool with the opposite sex.

Stay inside, be on the lookout to avoid petty quarrels and bickering.

LIBRA
Sept. 23 – Oct. 22

Someone close to you is experiencing some real changes this week. It may be due to some new ideas you've suggested or plans that make you appear. This is an ideal time to take chances with your personal values or your bank account.

SURGEON CUTS OFF GENITALS OF THE MAN WHO RAPED HER!

By BEATRICE DEXTER / Weekly [illegible]

SYDNEY, Australia — Surgeon Marsha Wilson was arrested for aggravated assault after she recognized an emergency room patient as the man who had raped her five years ago — and got revenge by slicing off his genitals on the operating table!

But authorities say the physician will probably get off with a fine and probation after DNA analysis confirmed that accident victim Randy Preston was the man who raped Dr. Wilson at knifepoint in July 1992.

Preston has disappeared since leaving the hospital, officials say.

"Dr. Wilson apparently lost her head when she recognized that the patient before her was the man who had caused her so much misery and pain," said police Lt. Al Best. "But investigators managed to the hysterectomy. "She was supposed to be working on his ruptured spleen, but she acted revenge instead.

"Witnesses say she made an incision in his abdomen in preparation for the spleen surgery, then reached over with the scalpel, grabbed the man's genitals and sliced them off. The whole process took a matter of seconds — it was over before anyone in the operating theater could move to stop her."

Stunned nurses called for help and Dr. Wilson was apprehended by hospital security forces. She was later arrested and charged with assaulting her anesthetized patient.

The patient, a 29-year-old laborer, suffered severe blood-ing following the unexpected castration. At one point, doctors could not get a pulse for the man, who eventually was stabilized and moved to intensive care.

A team of surgeons repaired his ruptured spleen but could not replace his severed organs. The man recovered after two months in the hospital and dropped out of sight after his release.

"In the course of our investigations we were able to confirm Dr. Wilson's story that she had been brutally raped five years ago," Lt. Best said. "We had detailed semen samples at the time of the crime and compared them to tissue from Preston's body — proving with DNA analysis that he was the rapist.

"The surgeon told us she recognized her assailant immediately when he was wheeled in for emergency surgery at her hospital."

Dr. Wilson said she remembers beginning to operate on Preston, but blacked out and cannot remember castrating him.

"I think, under the circumstances, it would be a very harsh judge who failed to understand this woman's situation," Lt. Best said. "But on the other hand, she has to face the consequences of her crime."

Wacky household hints — that REALLY work!

Here are a few great household hints that make quick work of time-consuming chores.

- To clean copper, rub it with catsup or a mixture of vinegar and salt.
- To slice an entire cake, use a taut piece of thread between both hands for perfect cuts.
- To rid a room of revolting odors, put a little cologne on a light bulb and turn on the light.
- To cover up minor scratches on wood furniture, make a paste of cigar ash and banana oil.

'I talked with the Devil — & he's mad as HELL!'

By TANYA BROOKS Weekly World News

PITTSBURGH, Pa. — Top psychic Leandro Mason says he's been in contact with Satan — and the Devil is mad as hell!

Mason says the evil one thinks there's too much good going on in the world and he has diabolical plans to stamp it out before it becomes an epidemic.

"He sees evil on the wane and he doesn't like it, and he's going to do something to stop the trend," says the 51-year-old medium.

Mason says he accidentally contacted the Devil while trying to reach a friend's father in the spirit world. The man had apparently gone to Hell after his death and was in the presence of Satan when Mason's efforts pulled both his spirit — and Mason realized immediately he was talking to the Devil himself.

"Just to hear his voice was the most frightening experience," the psychic recalled.

"He was furious and he spewed out hatred like molten lava. He said he was bored with the world, sick of spineless world leaders who had wonderful nuclear arsenals but were too wimpy to conduct a decent war. He said disarmament is an abomination and UN peace-keeping forces should stay at home where they belong.

"He said that pestilence and famine need to happen every day without interference from do-gooders. Now whenever he starts up a good disaster, some soft-hearted rock campaign to help out.

"He says he can't even get respectable hurricane casualties anymore because modern science warns everybody to evacuate, saving millions of lives."

Mason says the Devil told him he was going to put an end to all goodwill with a brilliant plan guaranteed to earn again make and triumphant among men. The wicked deed will happen in 1999, but the Devil says he won't clue us in on the terror.

"He said he wanted us to live in fear and to turn to sin in our hopelessness," Mason recalled.

Mason believes his conversation with the Devil represents the first time Satan has ever communicated with the living through a source. And he says he hopes he will never hear from the evil one again.

"I feel like I have to warn the world that he's up to something," the worried psychic says. "But now that I've done that I want to forget about the VILLAGERS in Salboni, India, were stunned when a vengeful elephant stamped a man to death.

By RAJ SINGH, Weekly World News

MAMA ELEPHANT TRAMPLES MAN WHO BEAT HER BABY!

SALBONI, India — A mama elephant trampled and killed a man — because the guy had beaten her baby with a stick!

"The victim never knew what hit him," wildlife officer Mohan Vaz told reporters.

"The mother came out of the jungle with fire in her eyes when she heard her baby squealing.

"She immediately assessed the situation and ran at the man at full gallop. She trampled and stomped him for a good five minutes — and when she was through, there wasn't much left of him.

"She was definitely getting revenge on him for hurting her baby."

The fatal drama began as a herd of 40 rampaging elephants thundered into Salboni on June 19, trampling huts and crops in the fields.

The baby elephant apparently became separated from his mother and crashed through a wall of Ranjit Ghosh's home.

"Mr Ghosh picked up a stick and started to beat the baby on the back and head," Vaz said. "He ran the animal out of the house and that's when his mother heard him crying.

"She came up behind Mr Ghosh — bellowing loudly, with her trunk in the air — and stomped him into the ground. The elephant weighed at least 4,000 pounds and the man really never had a chance."
